On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the same?

For remarks of Mr. Sordoni (See Appendix)

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORDONI. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, I should like to ask the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni, whether he knew there was a Congressional Apportionment Bill in preparation during this session.

Mr. SORDONI. Mr. President, I did.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, I should like to ask whether the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni, at any time made any protest or appeared before the Congressional Apportionment Committee.

Mr. SORDONI. Mr. President, I did not.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, I should like to ask when was the first time that the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni, drew this question of two Senators from Luzerne County to anyone's attention.

Mr. SORDONI. Mr. President, when I was acquainted with the fact that there was no preparation for additional representation for Luzerne County, which was today.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, that is all I desire to ask the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni.

Mr. SORDONI. Mr. President, I would have protested long before had I known; but no later than last night the Senator from Delaware Mr. McClure, told me this bill was apparently dead and buried.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, about two hours ago the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni, protested because of the fact that Luzerne County was given only one congressman. I feel that the responsibility was on his shoulders, as long as he knew that this bill was being written, to offer suggestions, as many of the other Senators have done during the course of the preparation of this bill.

Further, I would like to say that today the Senate Conference Committee and the House Conference Committee on Reapportionment were asked to sit with the Governor, and at that conference he raised this very question in connection with Luzerne County. My reply to him was, "Let us proceed to give Luzerne County two congressmen." And his reply was that it was impossible to work the situation out that way.

I have just come from the House, where I have listened to Representative Flynn, of Elk County, speak concerning this bill. I do not think that the Representative was fair in his remarks. Sometime during the winter I introduced a bill in this body, Senate Bill No. 872, that called for Congressional Apportionment. This bill was prepared after consultation with the members of this body. It was the consensus of opinion that the bill, when presented, was as near an agreeable bill as at that time could have been prepared. I have the map of the state of that bill here in my hand. I believe there were twelve votes in the Senate against the bill, which was passed and went to the House. Finally we had disagreement in the House, and a Senate Conference Committee was appointed. At the meeting of the Conference Committees we made one concession after another. The changes between the bill which I introduced, Senate Bill No. 872, and this House Bill No 922, represent the compromises, the concessions which we have made to secure this Act as it appears on your desks today They are totally different.

The same question was discussed this morning when we were with the Governor, when Mr. Flynn stated practically what he said on the floor of the House—that we are asking the House to make all the concessions; and that was not so. We have conceded everything so that we would not have chaos in this State, and congressmen and delegates at large and alternates, representing over 180 districts, to be voted on at the next election. I think the concessions we have made proves conclusively that the Senate Committee has not been arbitrary in any way.

Finally, after making one concession after another concession, yielding on this and yielding on that, they came to us last night with a proposition that we should take approximately 100,000 votes—probably 75,000—I do not know the exact number, out of the upper part of Luzerne County and add it in to what is known in this bill as the Fifteenth Congressional District.

The reason they wanted us to agree to this bill will become apparent to everyone who is in this chamber, to everyone in the State of Pennsylvania, if he will just consider what this means. And that was the reason of our disagreement last night, and that is why this bill was put over until this morning. Here are nine counties surrounding Luzerne County. Politics is all it means. Luzerne County has a well-organized political organization, and I am glad they have—I wish every county had a good organization; but why should Luzerne County use its political organization to control nine other surrounding counties, with different State Chairmen, different State Committeemen, and so on all down the line? Any man of commonsense knows this—I am not saying anything here before you today that I did not say this morning in the Governor's office—I said, "There is no use in our trying to camouflage this situation. Let us look at it as it is; call a spade a spade; put the cards on the table." And that is what we have done; and I think it was most unfair for Representative Flynn to rise on the floor today and state that the Senate Committee would not make any concessions—although he voted for the bill, and I am glad he did, because he saw what all of us on the Committee saw—that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the people of Pennsylvania, must have this bill because of the 9,500,000 people who live here, and over 200,000 entitled to vote. And I ask the Senators here to vote "aye" on this question to confirm the judgment of the Committee on Conference.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I want to say that this bill, or this matter of Congressional Reapportionment, presented a lot of difficulty, and very early in this session both the House and the Senate began to hold conferences in order to arrange the fairest, most equitable apportionment that we could figure out; and from that time on until these bills were introduced we were insisting on what would be apportionment that would be fair to the people of the State of Pennsylvania, because certainly we wanted to come to some understanding that would meet, as near as possible, the approval of our people.

I want to say that in a reapportionment of this kind it is a most difficult job. You have to reduce their thirty-six Congressional Districts to thirty-four. If there is any way that it can be done without hurting the people of some of the districts, we were unable to figure it out.

From that time on we have been trying to prepare a bill that we thought would be fair to the different sections; and I want to say, very fairly and frankly, that we could not arrive at a bill that did not hurt some of the Congressional Districts of the State. We regret this very much. There was only one, or two days, possibly, we had in which to make concessions and try to come to an agreement. On the last day things seemed to simmed down to one or two propositions, having to do, I think, with the Fifteenth Congressional District, which, my friends, contained eight counties. We were asked —and it was insisted upon—that we should allow this strongly organized district of Luzerne County to come in with 134,000 or 138,000 voters, and put it in with these eight counties that represented very little more than that amount, which would mean, in our view, at least, that we would be giving the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Sordoni, two Congressional Districts from the County of Luzerne, virtually, because they would have control over these eight rural counties. They would control, if you please—look at it from a political standpoint, the patronage of those eight counties.

I looked on it, my friends, the same as if they were encroaching on my district. I did not believe it was fair or right, and I did not say, from the beginning, I would ever consent to any such arrangement. In making out these districts you have to take into consideration, to some extent, the number of counties, the fact that they are sparsely inhabited. And then we see a county like Luzerene, with 134,000 people. My good friend, my splendid friend Sordoni proposes so many things; and I sincerely regret there are so few of them I can agree to. He says because they have 134,000 people they are entitled to two Congressional Districts. My friends, he ought to have 160,000 for two Congressional Districts. I ask you which would be the more difficult proposition for a Congressman—eight counties sparsely settled or one solidly organized county like the County of Luzerne. Those people in those eight counties—I may be wrong—would virtually be disfranchised if they allowed 134,000 or 138,000 inhabitants of Luzerne County to control them.

We have some districts in which we know there is a lack of the population they should have according to the apportionment figures; but you cannot help it, and cannot put them in any other place.

They wanted a reapportionment of the House—I believe that the Chief Executive wanted some reapportionment; and this the best we were able to work out of it. Now, you Senators know—and the members of the House, that it is a reasonable and usual thing to adopt the report of a Conference Committee; and I can only add that your Conference Committee of the Senate had only the one object in view, and that was to arrive at the best reapportionment that could be had under the circumstances. We were held up; we were limited in what we could do; and we had to do this or be without reapportionment. I do not think that the people of Pennsylvania wanted to elect Congressman-at-large, or their delegates by a State-wide vote; and I believe, and I want to say to you Senators, that the one thing to do is to approve the report of the Conference Committee, as they did in the House.

Mr. FAY. Mr. President, I am for this bill; but I do not like Gifford Pinchot. When we come back in January, if you will indulge me, sir, I shall have some remarks to make about it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the same?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—32

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

COMMITTEE TO NOTIFY THE HOUSE THAT THE SENATE IS READY TO ADJOURN SINE DIE

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. EALY offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 28, 1931.

Resolved, That a committee of two Senators be appointed to notify the House of Representatives that the Senate is ready to adjourn sine die.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair appoints as such Committee Messrs. Ealy and Bell.

QUESTIONS OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Franklin, Mr. Clippinger, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CLIPPINGER. Mr. President, at the time these two Conference Committees' reports were taken up for consideration, the visitors were gathering along the hall and there was conversation, so that I was unable to hear the number of the bill or the subject of the report. On House Bill No. 1937 I intended to vote in favor of that Conference Report. I thought it was the report on the Congressional Apportionment, while it was the report on the Hospital Appropriation.

I therefore ask the consent of the Senate to have my vote recorded as "aye" upon that bill.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears no objection. The Senator from Franklin, Mr. Clippinger, will be so recorded.

The Chaplain, Rev. O. B. Poulson, offered the following prayer:

For this brief moment, O Lord, we would close the door of the busy world, and in silence commune with Thee. All the days of our lives Thou hast sustained us. Truly Thou art God and we are the people of Thy pastures.

We lay at Thy feet the record we have all but completed. Bless Thou the good, and forgive us wherein we have failed. As we turn home again our hearts will be asking, why must great wrongs go on unrighted, and why has not our combined wisdom been more fruitful in providing daily bread for those who have looked to us for relief? In Thine own good way, O God, answer Thou the heart-cry of Thy people.

Remember in mercy the Governor of this Commonwealth. Bless and protect the Speaker of this House, and all members, all officers, all employes and pages, while coming days shall swiftly pass. May no evil come nigh our dwellings. May all shadows of despair be driven from our skies, while with gladness of heart we lift life's loads, and strive to brighten life's pathway. Any may the power of The endless life be the dayspring of our hope. Amen.

Resolved, That Rule 78 of the Rules of the House of Representatives be amended to read as follows:

No member shall be permitted to vote on any question unless he be present in the Hall of the House when the yeas and nays are called to answer to his name.

BART RICHARDS,
LILLIE H. PITTS,
GROVER C. TALBOT,
J. M. FLYNN.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee on Rules?

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the report of the Rules Committee has been placed upon the members' desks, and after careful consideration by that committee they feel it is their duty to notify the members as to the changes made and the reasons therefore:

On Rule 14; the change proposed to this rule is for the purpose of expediting the work of the House by establishing a uniform order of taking up the calendar each day and those of you who wish can refer to the copies on the desk. Rule 14 at the present provides that motions to recommit shall be made on Mondays and Fridays. The amendment will also aid the printer in getting copy more promptly. The only change is to make a motion to recommit a standing daily order of business instead of limiting these motions to Mondays and Fridays. It is very seldom that the House meets on Friday. A provision is also proposed as an amendment to Rule 14 for the making of special orders of business, no provision for which is in the rules at the present time.

On Rule 24 the only change made is by adding that a motion to lay on the table cannot be made in the committee of the whole which is sound parliamentary law. A Committee of the Whole must report back to the House any bill or paper committed to it.

Rule 30; this rule as amended specifically states that a committee of the House cannot change amendments adopted by the House to a bill or a resolution. Otherwise, the rule is the same.

To Rule 43 the following is added: "no bill after it has once been reported from committee shall be recommitted until it has been read the first time." The purpose of the change being to have the bill appear upon the calendars of the members in the form in which it was re-reported from committee the first time before recommitting it.

In Rule 44 the word "House" is inserted after the word "No" in line 19, the omission of this word being a typographical error, as the provision could not apply to Senate bills.

Rule 48; The amendment discontinues the requirement of a seconder to ordinary motions. It has been amended to save a lot of lost motion at the desk; the present practice has been very confusing and very troublesome. Before the Chair has been able to put the motion before the House the official stenographers and desk clerks have recorded it. The requirement of a seconder is based on the idea that if a motion has no other friend than the mover it is hardly worth the time of the assembly to spend time on it. Rarely if ever in the history of this House has a motion lacked the necessary seconder. Large assemblies no longer require seconders, including the National House of Representatives.

Rule 73; The amendment to this rule strikes out certain words in the section and amends it to conform to the changes made in Rule 48 eliminating the seconder and the language is also made to conform to present legislative practice.

Rule 78, in line 2, the words "within the bar" have been stricken out for the reason that they have confused the members in believing that the bar of the House meant the rail in the rear of the House, whereas there are numerous decisions defining the bar of the House as the entire floor of the House, within four walls, within its doors, and so forth. The effect of the rule is not changed.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I move the adoption of the report of the Committee on Rules.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

SENATE ADOPTS CONFERENCE COMMITTEE REPORT ON HOUSE BILL No. 1086

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has adopted the report of the Committee of Conference on the subject of the difference existing between the two Houses on House Bill numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 1086.

An Act requiring the departments and agencies of the Commonwealth and institutions maintained in whole to purchase from the Department of Welfare certain articles manufactured or produced by the penal and correctional institutions of the Commonwealth and the surplus to be held and not sold in competition with free labor

RESOLUTION

THANKING HON. JAMES J. HEFFERNAN

Mr. C. C. A. BALDI offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted.

Whereas, The success of the romp session of the House held last evening by the page boys was due to the careful and ingenious planning for the same on the part of the Hon. James J. Heffernan, who spent much time and labor in perfecting the arrangements and carrying the session to its conclusion, therefore be it Resolved, That the House extends its thanks and appreciation to the said Hon. James J. Heffernan for his efforts in providing them with a pleasurable entertainment, and congratulates him upon his ability in conceiving, planning and carrying out the session.

REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1922

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to present the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 1922, the Congressional Apportionment Bill.

The SPEAKER. The report of the Committee of Conference lies over for printing.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, all things but the eternal must come to an end and with the ending and the closing of this session, with mingled emotions of sorrow and joy this House feels as though it is ready to fire itself, and I have no doubt from the newspaper reports that I have read that it will soon be hired over again.

The duty falls to me of introducing the dispenser of our gifts, the distributor of our mementos, and, in so doing I want to introduce to the House our Santa Claus, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Heffernan, who will have charge of the ceremonies.

PRESENTATION OF GIFTS.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Members of the House, I at this time have the pleasure of coming before you, as I did two years ago, in the capacity of your Santa Claus, but after all is said and done, you, the members of the House, who have contributed to the fund, who have made these gifts possible, are after all the real Santa Claus. We expect the different speakers to be very brief and so we will not waste any more time, and I recognize the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Musmanno, who will bring little Rose Marie to the front.

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, I have brought little Rose Marie to play one more selection for you this morning and I have asked her to dedicate this piece to our Speaker, Mr. Goodnough. Although we may have differed throughout the legislative session, there is one thing in which we are in absolute accord, and that is that our Speaker is the best Speaker that this State or any State has ever had.

Throughout the arduous session he has manifested at all times a fairness which was so pure and genuine, so absolutely unaffected by any bias or factionalism that he was a real jewel. He manifested at all times a good cheer and friendliness that was a treasure to us all, and so, through little Rose Marie, I hope we may express symbolically the friendship, the admiration and the respect that we have had for our beloved friend, Mr. Goodnough. (Rose Marie played "The Poet and the Peasant".)

Mr. Speaker, my colleagues and friends, in all my experiences and travels I have never met a body of better fellows than the members of this House, and whether I am back or not I shall always feel a most sincere friendship for every one of you for all time, and perhaps as a little symbol of that friendship Rose Marie will play for you "When Your Hair has Turned to Silver I Will Let You Do the Washing Just the Same". (Rose Marie played "When Your Hair has Turned to Silver".)

Mr. HEFFERNAN. I am sure that you all have appreciated the wonderful efforts of this seven-year-old child. This little girl has appeared before numerous audiences in the larger cities, and is very popular in the theatres in Pittsburgh. I wish that I could receive as much salary for my work in my office as that little child receives.

I now recognize the gentleman from Washington, Mr. D. Glenn Moore.

Mr. D. GLENN MOORE. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, I have a good friend who goes frequently to Pittsburgh and who always says that the nicest thing about going to Pittsburgh is the coming home. I do not mean to cast any aspersion on Pittsburgh; I might say it in regard to Philadelphia as well. The point I wish to make is simply this;

I think that the nicest thing about coming down to the Legislature is going-home day. We have our fun and we have our differences but I think every one of us is impressed with the fact that when we come to the end all those things are wiped off the slate and we part in perfect good fellowship.

One of the gentlemen who has helped to maintain that spirit of good fellowship is the gentleman to whom it is my privilege to present a token of our esteem and our appreciation. At the beginning of the session it was my privilege and honor to nominate for Speaker the gentleman, of whom I said: "He is characterized by experience, good sense, poise and judgment." I do not hold myself out as a prophet but I think two hundred and seven other members of this House will testify that I made a perfectly good prophesy which has been fulfilled literally and that the success of this session has been due largely to the experienced, guiding hand of the Speaker.

We are presenting to him this afternoon an antique cabinet. There is no suggestion in that presentation that he is a back number, nor are we suggesting that he should be put on the shelf; it is simply a token of our appreciation of his fairness, his firmness and his good judgment throughout all this session. Along with this cabinet we are presenting to him a gold dining service with the suggestion that when that that service is used that he drink to the good health of the two hundred and seven members of the 1931 session who wish him good luck, a long life and the best of everything that the world can offer.

Mr. Speaker, I present to you on behalf of the House these two gifts with our appreciation, our esteem and our love.

The SPEAKER. Mr. Chairman, my colleagues of the House, ladies and gentlemen:

There are times in the lives of each one of us that for one reason or another stand out so distinctly that they become real milestones along life's pathway, and when the years have gone by and we have passed the summit of life, and are going down the other side, to that place where the shadows lengthen as the sun goeth down like Longfellow's ancient arrow maker, "Of the past our thoughts are," and in fond memory we live over and over the sights and scenes of those distinctive days rather than in anticipation of the future.

For me, such a day is this. I wish I could express to you just how I feel. I wish I could express to you my real thoughts; but this I am wholly unable to do. I wish I could express to you my appreciation for your gift of this beautiful chest, in whose fibre and lustre are contained the stored sunshine and rain, the dews and damps of a thousand years; while it stood like a mighty monarch in some faraway forest, scornful of the storms that bent its boughs; while it stretched its leafy arms toward the blue dome, studded at times with stars like jewels beyond compare.

I wish I could express my appreciation for these beautiful dishes, made from that precious metal for the love of which men everywhere and throughout all time have sacrificed their creature comforts and much that men hold dear, and all of which is shaped and molded by the hand of a master craftsman.

But greater, far greater, than the beauty fashioned by the artist; greater, far greater, than any intrinsic value contained, do I appreciate the good will and esteem of my colleagues of the House, and all my associates herein; and may I here highly resolve that never will I willingly or wittingly or knowingly perform any act or deed that will sully or tarnish your regard.

There are some things that I should do violence to my feelings if I did not express at this time. The House of Representatives, during the present session, has handled a total of two thousand, one hundred and sixty-five separate bills, all of which have been numbered, referred to committee, many of them re-referred; have been reported from committee, many re-reported; have been placed upon the calendars of the House, printed and reprinted and finally placed upon your desks perfect, even to the crossing of a "t" or the dotting of an "i", or as nearly perfect as it is humanly possible to do. In carrying out this work, literally hundreds of thousands of individual items, entries, and transactions are performed. And in the doing of them, the Speaker has but the most cursory supervision, and is dependent, almost wholly and entirely, upon those associated with him in the work at the desk. And I want to express keenest appreciation for the efforts of Mr. White, the Chief Clerk, and Mr. Burgner, the Resident Clerk, who have been untiring in their efforts; and to those of their organizations, for the maximum of efficiency with which they have performed their several duties.

And I have leaned heavily upon Edward Moore, who is a Parliamentarian of ability, and who has most faithfully performed his work. And this applies, as well, to every employe of the House. It is sometimes said that these employes receive their appointments for political services rendered, but I want to say that if they are as efficient in their political organization as they are in performing their duties in connection with the House, they are entitled to their reward.

Again I want to thank you for all that you have done for me. I wish I could say it better, but I hope you understand.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. We will now hear from the gentleman from Lawrence, our good friend, Bart Richards.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Chairman and ladies and gentlemen of the House, in the words of that unusual character from McKean County, Mr. Wilson, this day should be a state holiday because this is the day when the General Assembly adjourns, the wrack and wrangle of the Chamber of the House ceases, and we all go home feeling more or less satisfied.

This session has been a rather unusual session. The chandeliers have been festooned with adjectives and the floor has been strewn with nouns, but the clash of battle and the clang of arms is over now, and this is the day that Santa Claus comes down the chimney, without the whiskers and without the make-up, and we all meet here and tell each other what good fellows we are and forgetting that in the past in the heat of battle things were said that should have been left unsaid and things that were unsaid that should have been said.

In the past few weeks or months perhaps it has been my misfortune to disagree at times with my good friends from Delaware County, so today they have asked me, the Chairman has asked me, if I will act in a capacity concerned with Delaware County. I believe I have never been in that wonderful county where, according to my good friend Turner,

"Every view is lovely, and Only man is vile."

And he, likewise, knows little about the district where I come from out in the west where men are men and the canary birds sing bass, but we have learned to know each other better and to know our districts better.

Today it is my unusual privilege to be allowed to present to the gentleman from Delaware a token about which I know very little; something I can hardly appreciate or understand because in Lawrence County we put our lemonade in teacups. I understand that this is a "silver service," which is the technical name for it but as to the common or garden variety of name, of course, I leave it to your good judgment. Anything can be put in there, including embalming fluid, used by undertakers. We have had in our session an undertaker from Delaware County who has undertaken all of his undertakings, if you will pardon me, with unusual ability and efficiency. At least once a month every man and woman of this House has agreed that Eugene F. White is the daddy of them all when it comes to handing out presents, because the present you get on that paper certainly comes in handy. Casting jokes to one side, as my friend Ring Lardner would say, I want the Chief Clerk of the House, Mr. White, to know that I am speaking for my colleagues when I say that your services have been of unusual character which means to say that they have been without a flaw and without a blemish.

In presenting you with this silver service, Mr. White, we do so with the hope that the fluid that goes into this creamer and sugar container and whatever these small things are, will be something other than the embalming fluid which I understand flows freely in Delaware County.

Mr. EUGENE F. WHITE. Ladies and gentlemen of the House, I do not know how to gather words to thank you for this kind gift. I know of nothing I have done during this session that warrants it. I have no favorites here; you all look alike to me. I have tried to render the services which you have required, and my duty during the session is nothing but to serve you. I have done nothing during the session but my duty, and it is a real pleasure to know that it has been appreciated by you. I thank you for it.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. The Chairman will now recognize the Chief Clerk, Mr. Eugene F. White.

Mr. EUGENE F. WHITE. Mr. Chairman, representing the desk, Mr. Speaker, we wish to tender to you this symbol of authority which you can hand down through the ages, feeling as we do that you have acted as the Speaker of the House in a fair, dignified manner, and especially to us, the members of the desk. We hope as the days and the years go by that you will look upon this gavel and remember the days and the pleasures of the session of 1931.

Mr. C. J. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Chief Clerk and members of the desk, it is with real pleasure I receive this token. In the years that are to come this will be a token to bring back memories of all those pleasant associations we have had during the past few months. I thank you and your associates most sincerely.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Now, our good friend from Allegheny County, from McKees Rocks, who has been with us as the chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Dr. Steedle, will be recognized.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen of the House and friends; Mr. Moore in opening the festivities as one of the presentation orators, it seems cannot get away from his friend. I don't know, maybe it applies to getting into Pittsburgh and getting into Philadelphia, there is always something wrong. But I hope that probably some day Mr. Moore's friend will come to Philadelphia and of course that same friend will come to Pittsburgh, and possibly under a city manager everything will be different.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, while we pause at this particular moment to pay a tribute to the men who have ably assisted in the transactions of the business of the House, yet it always carries with it and sheds a little spirit of pathos. We part today leaving with each other the fondest memories, the most appreciative, gentlemanly spirit, as we go back home. While we probably may have differed on the floor of the House with respect to legislation, yet I think there has been a spirit of amity among the ladies and gentlemen of this session, and I can state that with real judgment having been here since 1913, that there is a spirit of real, honest good friendship.

The duty that befalls me today is to present to the Resident Clerk of the House our token of esteem. Now, I don't know the purpose of this present to the Chief Clerk and to the Resident Clerk, this so-called tea set. Of course we cannot accuse Brother Bergner of carrying any embalming fluid around; but there is one asset that he does have that we don't have; he has a peach orchard, and you know what you can get out of peaches. So if this is a dry administration, boy, oh boy, I am afraid, if Pennington arrives in here and sees these two so-called lemonade sets, he will probably become suspicious and wonder whether or not there is something secret hidden down in Chambersburg, in Franklin County; that may probably arouse his suspicion and probably stir up an investigation of the farm of peaches and apples.

I know of no better tribute that can be paid to our good friend, Milt Bergner, than a little poem that was handed to me by one of the members of this House that was written by a doctor in Du Bois by the name of Dr. Free. Of course, being allied in his profession with him I am privileged to read it. It is called "The Human Touch".

> "It's the human touch in the world that counts,
> The touch of your hand in mine;
> Which means far more to the fainting heart,
> Than shelter or bread or wine.
> For shelter is gone when the night is o'er,
> And bread lasts only the day.
> But the touch of the hand and the sound of the voice,
> Shines on in the soul alway."

So, in behalf of the members of the House, Milt, it is my pleasure to present to you—I presume the title of this is a cocktail set, but since the Eighteenth Amendment, I don't know what you are going to do unless you have a lot of pre-prohibition stuff down that way. They don't make it any more and they are not allowed to sell it, but we hope your cellar is full, and that when you and your friends in the bosom of your family have occasion to partake of the contents of this that you will think with kind memories of your friends in the House.

So, on behalf of the members of the House, I present to you this so-called cocktail set.

Mr. MILTON K. BERGNER. Mr. Chairman, members; I thank you.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. The Chairman will now recognize the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Heffron.

Mr. HEFFRON. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, it is a great pleasure and privilege for me to have the honor of presenting to a very dear personal friend of mine who works on the desk, a Westminster clock from the members of this House. This man comes from the County of Luzerne and is one of its most substantial citizens. He first came to this House in 1913 as a member and after serving a few terms here as a member he was appointed to a clerkship on the desk, which position he has filled ably and wisely. He is courteous and obliging and never fails to do a turn for any member of this House.

Mr. David Thomas, as this clock ticks off the seconds, minutes and hours, I hope you will remember the many friendships that you have made during this session. I now present you this Westminster time clock.

Mr. DAVID THOMAS. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, I want to thank each and every one of you for this very beautiful clock. I assure you that it will receive a conspicuous place in my home and as it chimes out the time of day I will always remember with perfect memories the session of 1931.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. We will now go down around where I live and call on Mr. Talbot, of Delaware County.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, I very carefully put my hands in my pockets so that the temptation would not be too great. We are always happy to come to the final windup of the legislative sessions. I suppose that is particularly true this session because we have had some vast differences among the membership, all being sincere. But laying that aside today in going to all parts of the Commonwealth to assume our usual vocations, this is a time of sadness and yet a time of rejoicing; a sadness that we must part and that some of us may never meet again; but one of joy that we have that which is more valuable than anything on earth, those friendships that will live on forever.

I have heard a real address this morning from the gentleman from Lawrence; first apologizing to the members from Delaware County and then delivering an oration. I thought as he stood there and I heard his address that his talents had been wasted and I believe that probably if the administration had given him time to prepare an address he might have had some converts from Delaware County.

We are here to pay our respects and to express our thanks for the treatment accorded to this House by the workers. It is always the fellows behind the scenes that make for the success that we have accomplished in so far as dispatching the work is concerned.

I have the particular pleasure because the boy I have the honor of giving the gift to is one that is seen little but one who functions throughout the year, and so, Addison White, it is a real pleasure for me on behalf of the members of the 1931 session to present to you a token, this gold watch, of their appreciation of your services during this session and your loyalty and courteous treatment accorded when we are not seated here in Harrisburg.

Mr. ADDISON WHITE. Mr. Chairman and ladies and gentlemen of the House, I hardly know what to say in appreciation of this token but I want to assure you that it always will be prized by me. I might say that if I had had this just a little earlier in the session I might have been able to more definitely determine when a bill was going to be recalled from the Governor or when Mr. Sarig, of Berks, was going to ask for personal privilege or a number of other things that have happened during the session. I thank you sincerely for this token of friendship.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Now we will hear from the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Haws.

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Chairman and members of the House. I believe I am the first one to take orders from our Chairman, because he said that the speeches were to be brief. It is my pleasure to be delegated this morning to present a taken of our esteem to one of the two master minds that sits at the desk, the boy with the stenorian voice, one who can call the roll slowly or one who can call it fast. One of our members from down town said that we ought to take him to Philadelphia because he could count votes quicker than anybody in that town

It is my privilege to present this little secretarial desk to Mr. Quay Hewitt on behalf of the members of this House who appreciate your services as reading clerk.

Mr. QUAY HEWITT. Mr. Chairman and ladies and gentlemen of the House, in my eighteen years service on the desk I have received many lovely gifts the same as this, but the greatest present that was ever given to me was when the Speaker, and the members of the House stuck to me when I was down. I thank you.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Now I have the pleasure of calling on one of our members from Washington County, Mr. Heffran.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Chairman and ladies and gentlemen of the House. Now, because Ed. Haws has just moved the previous question I had better get this over quickly.

It is a pleasure to me to make the presentation I am about to make because of my personal friendship for the officers at the desk. Fortunately for me during my service in the House I have been down here at the front where I could closely observe their work. They have always had a splendid organization at the desk. The one I am referring to at the present time had a little harder duty to perform at the beginning of the session because of the illness of the reading clerk. I might just say here to the reading clerk particularly that every member of the House is glad to see him back in his usual health.

Mr. Martin has served at the desk for fourteen years, and particularly Heffernan, Heffron, Heffner and Heffran, appreciate his work because of his clear enunciation in calling the roll and in having those four votes recorded just as they would like to have them recorded. As an expression of our esteem and appreciation of your work, Mr. Martin, it is my pleasure to present to you on behalf of the members of this House this gold watch.

Mr. O. E. MARTIN. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, I do want to thank you for this gift, but I want you to recall also that while I will carry this in my pocket I assure you that I am going to carry in my memory the faces of the members of this assembly. I think that I can close my eyes and just see every member and follow one after the other over this House and I know that I will keep them forever, not only in the memory of your faces but I am going to carry something in that organ just between the head and the watch pocket. I do thank you for this.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Now we will hear from our good friend, Sam Lucas, from Philadelphia.

Mr. LUCAS. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, to me it is a great pleasure to be called upon to present to one of our employes of the House a gift, and I am sure that every member of the House will agree with me that there is no employe of the House who holds a more important position than the young man to whom I am about to present this gift. In the previous sessions that I have been here we have never had what we might call a legislative jumble such as you have experienced in this session and I know through his knowledge of the laws that he has kept your Speaker on the straight path. During one of our little mixups in the House some one has said that we didn't need the services of this particular man. I want to say to the members of the House that you could not function unless you had someone that was able to stand alongside of the Speaker and guide him when the members of the House are ready to call something up out of order.

I don't know why they picked out these beverage sets for dry people. We come up here from a very dry town and we don't get any beverage sets in Philadelphia. I don't know what my friend Eddie Moore is going to do whether he is going to put tea or something else in the shaker. I only hope and trust that Eddie will think back on the session of 1931, and I am sure you will all agree with me that Eddie Moore has the friendship of every member of the House.

Eddie, it gives me great pleasure to present this to you and I am sure that you will appreciate it as an expression of the friendship of the members of ths House.

Mr. EDWARD MOORE. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, I sincerely appreciate the very beautiful present that you have presented to me today. I could not quite figure out, however, why my set was confined to the sugar bowl and the cream pitcher. I want to say that I have enjoyed the work in the House very much, especially this session. We have some unusual and amusing experiences up here and one occurred this morning that I thought you might be interested in hearing about. We debated the general appropriation bill and after debating it Dr. Steedle discovered a very serious error and came to me and suggested that these amendments be put in.

It appears that we have a lot of paintings in this Capitol and they have to be touched up every once in a while by an artist. So these were the amendments that were presented to the bill this morning:

For correcting the Ten Commandments	$ 5.12
For renewing the heavens and adjusting the stars	7.04
Putting a new stone in David's sling and enlarging the head of Goliath	6.13
Mending the shirt of the Prodigal Son and waving his hair	3.39

Mr. Chairman the amendments have been inserted. I thank you.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Now you will hear from the fair rate board, our good friend, Mr. Staudenmaier.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, one of the newspaper correspondents said that I posed here for the common people, so evidently I was on the right side. However, folks, it gives me great pleasure to be permitted to appear before you today for what may possibly be the last time. I say that I appear before you gladly. I cannot say that during the past session I appeared on this floor as gladly as I do now. There were many moments when many things were quite embarrassing to the folks here and there and in the left hand corner. Today we are a unit and things of this type are fitting and proper. I say that I appear before you gladly because I appear in behalf of the House to show their esteem and appreciation for one of the ablest most genial and most efficient officials that we have on Capitol Hill. This man by his every act has so endeared himself and ingratiated himself in the hearts of each and every member that I can say without fear of successful contradiction that each and every member has nothing but the kindliest feeling and the highest regard and respect for the official to whom I am referring and needless to say that official is the Hon. John H. Fertig, head of the Legislative Reference Bureau. Johnny Fertig, as we know him back in Schuylkill County, is the official to whom we go with our thoughts; those thoughts that are inculcated in our own minds or I might say arise out of our own mentality and some thoughts which are sent to us by the folks back home, with the phrase "there should be a bill passed" to correct this evil. A lot of these thoughts are in infancy or you might say somewhat ephemeral or hazy. We go to Johnny's office and say "Johnny, here is the situation and there should be an act passed to take care of these things" and lo and behold in a day or so there is laid down upon the desk of the member a masterpiece, a piece of legislation which when we place our name to it we have no fear of its constitutionality. We feel it is all right because Johnny has drafted it and we have come to feel that Johnny knows his business.

Hence, on behalf of the House, it is altogether fitting that we give to Johnny a token of our respect and esteem, this self-winding clock, which is symbolic of Johnny himself. Johnny is a self-winder and needs no starter.

Mr. JOHN H. FERTIG. You gave me a rather beautiful gift at the beginning of this session and now you are piling it on by giving me one at the end of the session. When you elected me to the office of Director of the Bureau at the beginning of the session you gave me an honor that has been one of the ambitions of my life. I have only one regret about it and that is that I should have attained it through the death of my good friend and former chief, Mr. Moore. I don't know how to thank you for this clock but the thought runs through my mind that the House and Senate usually meet when people ought to be in bed or eating a meal, and I am wondering, Mr. Chairman, whether this clock runs on daylight saving or legislative time. I thank you.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. We will now hear from one of the ladies of the House, Mrs. Pitts.

Mrs. PITTS. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, I deem it an honor and a privilege to be asked to make the presentation to one for whom we have such a very high regard, and I am sure that I voice the sentiment of each one of us when I say that there is no office that we go in where we are received as graciously as when we go into Miss Barnett's office, in the Chief Clerk's office, and especially when we go the first week in the month, and I therefore deem it an extra pleasure to present to her this fox fur and I can assure her that it was killed before we had the controversy on the fox bill yesterday.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. We will now hear from our good friend from Berks, Mr. Hoopes.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, I think it is very appropriate that a Socialist member should be selected to present one of the gifts to one of those who has the most work to do around here, real work, and I think most of us will agree that during the past few days this House has needed a custodian, and sometimes I have wondered whether the members didn't need a custodian.

At this time it gives me great pleasure to present this Westminister clock to David Hopkins, and I am sure that he will use it to keep time on the members and to keep this House in even better shape than he has in the past, if that is possible, which I doubt.

Mr. DAVID HOPKINS. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, when I look at this clock I really don't know what to say. I remember that two years ago I received a time piece from the members of the Pennsylvania Legislature that I would not part with for all the money in the world. I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart and want to assure you that my wife will appreciate it just the same as I do. We shall sit at night and listen to its ticks and think of you and wait for the session of 1933 when I hope we all shall meet again. Your fellowship has become so great to me that I feel that when the time has come that my good friends from Schuylkill County shall say to me that I cannot have my job I think I would be satisfied, but I want to stay here because of this good fellowship. I have tried since I have been here to give my superior, Mr. White, the Speaker of the House and every member of the Legislature the best that is in me and I shall endeavor to do that as long as I shall remain among you. I thank you.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. I now have a very sad duty to perform and that is to call on two gentlemen of the House distinguished for their bashfulness and their backwardness. One of them is Charley Baldi of Philadelphia and the other is the rubber goods salesman from McKeesport, Johnny Rhodes. I would like them to hand these envelopes containing the wherewithal to the efficient stenographers who so cheerfully served us, Justine Cohen, Lilly E. Lind, Edna M. Furst, M. Kathleen McLaughlin and Evelyn R. Miller.

Mr. C. C. A. BALDI, Jr. Mr. Chairman and members of the the House, you have seen the large number of presents laid out here on the table but this looks better. Now, if these girls don't come forward I will take this money back to Philadelphia and spend it in that town, Mrs. Cohen, Miss Lynn, Mrs. Furst, Miss Miller and Miss McLaughlin; now girls if you don't come forward this goes back to Philadelphia.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. I am going to take the pleasure of handing these gifts to some of our faithful employes; Mr. Frank D. Bowman, the storekeeper; Andrew Colvin, of the Post Office; Charles D. Reid, of the Post Office; Mr. J. A. Brown, of the Post Office, and to the Postmaster himself, Joseph K. Bush, we are giving him something that I feel he would like to have.

There are three gentlemen who work here in the House who are known as the Official Stenographers. They work hard and are entitled to every remembrance that we can give them. The first one, the Chief, is Major Eugene E. Moyer, who receives a gold watch and chain, Mr. John M. Bain, Mr. Howard J. Moore.

Mr. R. A. Kline, the desk clerk, receives a fountain pen, and cigarette lighter, which of course he can carry in his pocket, and to Joseph Haley, Clerk to the Speaker, this little token, something the little boy requested himself and thought he would like to have. And to Thomas R. Evans, Chief Sergeant at Arms this little gift.

Night before last at the Country Club the members of the Appropriations Committee presented to their Chairman. Dr. Steedle, this wonderful Hamilton watch, which is on exhibition here this morning. It is a pleasure for me to present this to him on behalf of the House.

And to the young lady, Miss Margaret C. McChesney, who is always tireless and is willing to do any typing that you desire, I thought we had better let her have a nice little bag for her to carry.

And to Frank J. Turano, the man who looks after the detail work for the Legislature Journal as it comes over the desk this token of our regard.

And to the man who looks after our spiritual destiny, the Rev. O. B. Poulson, Chaplain of the House, this is a watch for the Chaplain.

Rev. O. B. POULSON. One of the most precious moments at the end of the session is to recall that at the beginning of each day's session, in what we may well call God's moments, you entrusted that service to my care, and I want to thank you, Mr. Speaker, members of the House and the Officers of the House and Pages as well, and every one of you for the reverence and the deep stillness you have manifested during that one precious moment. I thought a lot of you when I came in and I am going home thinking a lot more of you. I thank you very kindly.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. To our Journal Clerk, Mr. Charles H. G. Larrimore is presented this little case which I know will be very pleasing to him.

To Michael A. Sanders, desk clerk, we present this little token of our appreciation of his services.

Down stairs in the Speaker's office there is a little lady, Helen Schless, for whom we have this little bag.

And this is for Mr. William McDowell, the Clerk in Mr. Bergner's office on whom we all have to call. He is beginning to gather together a little silver service. We are starting him off with this.

Mr. WILLIAM McDOWELL. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, I thank you very much for my present.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. For the gentleman who looks after the "mikes" we give this token of our regard. We are giving this to Mr. Osborn because he sees that we can hear everything that is said.

To the Official Reporter, Mr. Morris H. Garvin, we all want him to have this gift with our appreciation.

We have in the House twenty page boys and I now call on Mr. Myers to please come forward.

Mr. F. H. MYERS. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, it affords me great pleasure at this time—you have heard a lot of talk about the employes of the House—and it gives me great pleasure to speak about the Chief Page, a man who has been here for many years, a man who attends to every want of the member of this House. It gives me great pleasure to present this to Mr. Clarence E. Seiler, Chief Page of the House.

And then to the boys, you will come forward as your names are called: John Deliman, Christian Greider, James F. Krick, Virgil Sariano, Harvey J. Rose, Harry Michlovitz, Harold W. Reiter, James R. Stimmell, Flavius Beck, David Stineman, Paul Wintergrass, Stanley Brubaker, John Brown, Samuel Waters, Norman C. Fisher, Clarence Fry, Samuel Gray, Dougless Phillips, Fritz Nelson.

JOHN BROWN. Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen of the House, I thank you very much for this present.

SAMUEL GRAY. Mr. Chairman and members of the House, I thank the members and particularly the clerks and the officers for their kindness to the page boys and hope that you will remember the page boys at the next session.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Members of the House, just to show you the kindly hearts that these pages boys have for their Chief they have gotten together an envelope containing a certain amount of money. They have asked me to deliver this to Clarence E. Seiler, Chief Page of the House, with the best wishes from all of the page boys.

To Mr. F. J. Lillie, the message clerk, goes this remembrance.

I want to thank you all—I wish I had some more—but I want to thank you all for your kind attention here today and bye bye to Santa Claus now to go back to his mountain home, Broad and Chestnut.

RECESS

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House take a recess for three-quarters of an hour.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The House will take a recess for three-quarters of an hour.

AFTER RECESS

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I had sincerely hoped that it would not be necessary for any member of this House in these closing hours of the present session to take the floor to oppose this report.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin, will state his point of information.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, what is the motion before the House?

The SPEAKER. The question before the House is; will the House adopt the report of the Committee on Conference on which question the "Ayes" and "Nays" will be called.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen, upon investigating the contents of this report, to my amazement I discover that in the 13th District the counties of Schuylkill and Northumberland are joined. Other glaring irregularities appear in this report, but I might as well be candid and state to the members of this House that it is beyond the powers of my comprehension to understand why Schuylkill County should be joined to another county, when the very next section states that the 14th District shall consist of the County of Berks, and Berks County, may I bring to the attention of this House, does not have the population of Schuylkill County.

When the last census was taken Schuylkill County was in the throes of the worst depression that we have ever witnessed. Many of our residents, our citizens, were temporarily absent, and I venture to say that if that census were taken now we would be up to the figure of two hundred and eighty thousand or so close to it that it would not be debatable.

Schuylkill County is a county that during the Revolutionary War sent its quota of men so that we could exist independent and free of a country that sought to tax us without representation. In the War of 1812, I say without fear of successful contradiction, that Schuylkill County took no back seat to any county in this Commonwealth when it came to doing its part. In the War of 1860 it is a matter of history that the first defenders, so that this union should not be disintegrated, and all the work of our Revolutionary heroes should not be cast to the four winds—the first defenders came from Schuylkill County. The first troops that appeared in the City of Washington in answer to the call of Abraham Lincoln, were Schuylkill Countians. In the dark days of the Black Swamp in Virginia they came to Schuylkill County to get miners to blow up what? To risk life and limb and caused the blood of the Southerners to flow over Petersburg.

Is all of this work, is all of this patriotism on the part of Schuylkill County to be besmirched? Are we to lose our separate and distinct entity?

In the World War, Schuylkill County, Pottsville, the 23rd Engineers, when it came to throwing bridges over the Marne, when it came to going up in the Argonne, Schuylkill County by its death rate will show that they were to the front, that they did their duty, and are you now, my fellow members, going to undo what my fellow citizens, what my ancestors, what those who have gone before us, have done for this country and for this State.

I will go further—I did not intend to mention this when I took the floor, and this is personal, and that is when the Sioux and the Cheyennes in the Black Hills were wiping out the white men, one of the men eighteen years old, came from the City of Brooklyn, enlisted and served for five years with distinction and is living to-day. When he came home he went to Schuylkill County to live, and thank God he is living today, and that is my father.

This piece of legislation, this report, has so curdled my blood that I feel I am losing a calm mind. It seems to me that a matter of such prime importance should have come out on the floor of this House before the closing hours, before the closing minutes, let us say, and I say without fear of successful contradiction that there was not a representative from Schuylkill County, that our Senator from Schuylkill County was not consulted, and the first we knew of this was a short time ago.

I would be remiss in my duty; I would not be fit to represent anybody, let alone the descendants of Schuylkill Countians, that I have outlined to you unless I took this floor and in the most vehement terms that I could command, the most emphatic language that would rush to my mind as I stand here—I say that I would be unworthy to represent anybody if I did not oppose this report.

Schuylkill County, with its natural resources, stands out in the front, the heart of the anthracite region and it bears its share of carrying on the financial burdens of this Commonwealth. Your anthracite coal tax, one of the most discriminatory pieces of legislation ever spread upon the statute books of Pennsylvania; is this the thanks we get; is this the reward?

Members of this House, just as sure as I am standing here if this report is adopted there should be a black flag draped over our Courthouse at Pottsville, over every municipal and borough building and go in mourning for the lack of discretion, for the lack of appreciation of the achievements of the native sons of Schuylkill County.

I know of no other piece of legislation that has so rankled me, and I know when it has spread throughout the confines of Schuylkill County there will be gnashing of teeth, and Good God! if I may say so, and if you will pardon me, those first defenders that answered Lincoln's call, those engineers that are over there in France, that are down in Italy, some of them even sent into Russia, some of them never to come home, why, they are going to turn in their graves if that is the reward of their efforts.

I do not think as I look about me into the countenances of you men and women that any of you will conscientiously—oh, I know you people are sincere; I know that; I know that there are problems you have to contend with, over which you have no control in many instances, but in this matter of recognizing the blood of those Schuylkill Countains who have gone and departed, and are not able to be here to voice their sentiments; oh, for their sake not for those who I might say are living, let us maintain a separate and distinct entity of Schuylkill County.

This may be the last thing I shall ask of you members, and I sincerely hope in this matter that is so close to my heart, so close to my fellow Schuylkill Countains, that you do not fail me in this hour, this supreme moment. It seems to me that if this report is adopted you are saying to our members "you are like the last leaf on the tree, you have used up and wasted all your efforts and now you are to be blown into a corner and left to rot and decay there in innocuous desuetude". It is indefensible, it is reprehensible, it is abominable, it is vicious, and it is one of the worst rewards for honest effort ever made by any one. I thank you.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise with some hesitation to say a few words in answer to the gentleman from Schuylkill. Had he not seen fit to refer to the County of Berks I should not have done so.

I am afraid that the gentleman from Schuylkill is just two days ahead of time with his Memorial Day Address. I feel that every county in Pennsylvania has made its due and proper share of sacrifice during the wars through which America has gone, and I deem it entirely inappropriate and wholly uncalled for for any member from any county to rise up here and hold up his county as being the one county that saved the Union during the days of '61 to '65. I want to say that Berks County had its share, its proper quota among the first defenders. I am not here to boast about it because I realize that there are other counties that have made equal sacrifices with the county of Berks, and I am not holding up the county of Berks as being more patriotic than any other county of Pennsylvania, and I feel it is unfair to have to sit here and listen to one county being held up and extolled as the only county in Pennsylvania which has stood out and made its sacrifice and given the lives of its sons on the field of battle in order that America might live and America might survive. If I have read history correctly, and I have read at least a little of it. Berks was a county when Schuylkill County was still infested with Indians. Berks is one of the oldest counties in the State of Pennsylvania, and I don't hold that up because Berks was one of the first counties in Pennsylvania, I don't come here and claim any priority or any special privilege or hold it up as being one bit better than any other county in Pennsylvania, but I do hold it up as being the equal and standing on a level in patriotism with any county of this great Commonwealth. I feel that it is unjust, uncalled for and unfair to compel the members of this House to sit here and listen to the implied inferiority of the people from their respective counties. We are Pennsylvanians all; all have made sacrifices and all of us have contributed our share to the upbuilding and the safeguarding of America, and I say to you, ladies and gentlemen of this House, do not for a moment be swayed by this Patrick Henry Memorial Day oration to which you have just listened.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have read the report of this conference committee and I see that it says that the 27th District shall consist of the counties of Armstrong, Indiana, Jefferson and Cambria. Now let us leave the past and take up the present and see what this piece of trickery does for the soft coal people. Between four hundred and five hundred thousand people all joined together in one district and so have one man as their representative in the halls of Congress. If that is justice then the things we have done before and have tried to do and have not succeeded in doing, have not been operating under and have not been guided by any principle of justice. Our soft coal region is now prostrate; people have had to leave it because they could not make an honest living in that region. At this time these four or five hundred thousand people who in normal times would represent a potential population of more than half a million need particularly representation in the national forum. There is no equity, no equality and there is no justice meted out to the people who are gathered together to form the 27th District. I ask you members if you believe in those three principles, equality, equity and justice, to vote no on the report of this bill.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I suppose the members of the House realize that the conferees in coming to an agreement with their brothers from the Senate were compelled to reduce the number of congressional districts from thirty-six to thirty-four. We realized it, at least I did as Chairman of the Congressional Apportionment Committee, when I undertook this task, and when this commission was handed to me that I had a most difficult and a most thankless job to perform. The matter would have been exceedingly simple if we could have added to rather than have deducted from the number of Congressmen, but, unfortunately, we were not placed in that position. My fellow conferees and myself were not entirely in harmony and are not today with the provisions of this conference report. It is not in the form we should like to see it, but we had to come to an agreement with the Senate or apportionment would have failed at this session. Now, I wish to assure the House that the conference committee has given hours and hours and days and days to the study of this question. We have set up every conceivable kind of a plan whereby an equitable apportionment might be made and after we in the House had made and set up that which was entirely satisfactory to us, it was necessary for us to meet with the Senate and to have it concur in an arrangement that could be passed by both Houses. During the past week we have been in almost continuous session in an endeavor to effect a compromise that would do as little harm as possible. Now, we realize that there are a few districts that have not gotten what they expected to get in this apportionment, and I regret just as much as they do, that we could not give to every district the apportionment for the set up that each individual district wished, but, as I said a few moments ago, that was impossible. Now, we have at the very end of the session prepared for the consideration of the House a conference report that we believe and that we know is the best that could be obtained under the circumstances, and therefore, the question that this House now will have to determine is not whether they like this bill in all its particulars, but whether or not they want congressional apportionment. If this bill fails it means that we shall have no congressional apportionment and that we shall be compelled next fall to elect thirty-four congressmen at large, so, therefore, we have the choice of two evils, either adopting the conference report as it lies upon your desk or defeating it and electing all the congressmen at large. I assure you that I have done everything in my power to bring about a result that would do the least amount of harm; that would give as much satisfaction as the circumstances of the situation permitted, and although I realize our conference committee has failed in part, yet in the main I feel that we have succeeded and I would ask you, if you desire to have your districts represented as individual districts, to vote for this bill, because if you don't and it fails there can be only one answer, and that is that every congressman in the State of Pennsylvania will have to be elected at large and that your individual districts will be wiped out.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I had hoped that I would go through this session without taking the floor of the House on a measure before us, but as a member of the conference committee that conferred on this bill I feel that at least in part the story should be told as to what occurred in connection with the framing of this bill. The House members, your members on the conference committee, approached this problem with a view of disturbing only the two districts necessary in order to comply with the Federal requirements in reapportionment. We felt that we had gotten very far in framing a measure that was fair and equitable both from the viewpoint of population and compactness and other things that enter into the problem, but unfortunately the members of the other side insisted in the very first instance of making the separation between the counties of Montgomery and Bucks. That district was not nearly as large in population as other districts in the State, but they must have that and they would have that and when they had that then it was necessary to do the thing that the gentleman from Schuylkill complains of, and it was necessary to do even more drastic things that he complains of, because in the counties of Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson and Armstrong it made more than four hundred thousand population. And that was not all. We were then told after we had yielded on that that we must insist on the Luzerne County district remaining as is with almost four hundred and fifty thousand population when the district to the south of it had only two hundred and fifty odd thousand. We yielded on everything and finally asked that we be permitted to equalize the population between Luzerne County and the smallest district of the State. No, that would not be done. Now, late this morning, and the reason why you are kept here, late this morning we were given the choice. Your three members whom you sent into this conference were given a choice of assuming the responsibility of having no apportionment in Pennsylvania or taking just what the Senate members were prepared to give us. We did not want that responsibility. We felt it was too heavy, that the burden was too great for three members of this House to assume that there was to be no congressional reapportionment in this State. Now then the result is this bill, this report that you have before you, I want to say in fairness to you members who feel aggrieved at this, that perhaps you are much better off, and I believe you are much better off in taking this bill rather than have the large cities of the State elect your congressmen which unquestionably they would do if the elections were at large, and in the absence of this bill, that is in my opinion what would occur. Therefore, under protest and with much resentment in my heart I propose to vote for the conference report. I feel that I would be doing myself and you an injustice were I not to tell the story on the floor of the House.

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker, and fellow members of the House, I have listened with a very great deal of interest to what has been said in regard to this matter and the adoption of this report. We were situated before this attempt was made where we were represented as required by the Constitution. Today you have placed with us more than four hundred and twenty-seven thousand of a population to be represented, and we feel that it is unfair and unjust that we should be called upon to submit to that sort of thing because the representation of another legislative body has ruled that we must do so, and to threaten us with the responsibility of having the congressmen of Pennsylvania elected at large. They come now to confront us with that sort of a problem and I for one protest against it. I am from the 27th Congressional District of Pennsylvania. I want each and every other district to have justice rendered to them and to have it done by the constitutional provisions laid down and provided for. I shall vote against it and I shall ask that every other member do so. To hold over my head or any other member's head today the fact that they would be elected at large—we will meet that when it comes. But let us do the duty that is at hand at this particular moment and vote "No".

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

REPORT OF COMMISSION TO STUDY MUNICIPAL CONSOLIDATION IN COUNTIES OF THE SECOND CLASS

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the report of the Commission to Study Municipal Consolidation in Counties of the Second Class, which the Clerk will read.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

To His Excellency, the Governor, Gifford Pinchot, and to the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:

Your Commission, authorized by Act of June 8, 1923, P. L. 688 (No. 282); appointed by His Excellency, Gifford Pinchot; continued by supplementary Act of May 14, 1925, P. L. 715 (No. 389); and reappointed by his Excellency, John S. Fisher, under supplementary Act of May 4, 1927, P. L. 674 (No. 339) and continued by supplementary Act of May 1, 1929, P. L. 1212 (No. 424), respectfully submits the following report:

Since its appointment, the Commission has presented four complete reports. These have presented the result of its activities, the conclusions which have been developed by its studies and in its report of March 5, 1929, suggested the adoption by the General Assembly of an act to carry into operation the provisions of article fifteen, section four, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, the Commission having drafted and submitted as a part of its said report a form of Charter for the consolidation of the region as authorized by the said Constitution. That the General Assembly by Act of April 18, 1929, P. L. 573 (No. 245) approved and adopted a form of Charter for said consolidated City, and authorized and directed that it be submitted to the electors of Allegheny County for their approval or rejection on the Fourth Tuesday of June, 1929.

The members of the Metropolitan Charter Commission are convinced, as a result of the long, wide and exhaustive study made, that those provisions embodied in the charter submitted to the General Assembly of 1929 providing for a federated metropolitan system of government was for the good, greater progress, and success of all of Allegheny County.

The Commission was greatly encouraged and not at all discouraged by the vote in the special election of June, 1929. While the charter failed to pass because of the peculiar wording of the enabling Constitutional Amendment (in no way the fault of the Commission) which required that two-thirds of the voters in each of a majority of 121 municipal divisions (or 62) must give approval, it is a fact that throughout the whole of Allegheny County the total aggregate vote was nearly 2½ to 1 in favor of the charter.

A review of the vote cast in the special election shows that both inside and also outside of the City of Pittsburgh, there was a majority vote in favor of the charter.

A new constitutional amendment has been submitted to the present General Assembly (1931). The form of this constitutional amendment does not greatly change the language of the present amendment except that if approved it will permit adoption of a charter by a majority of the voters in each of a majority of the municipal divisions of Allegheny County.

Your Commission is convinced that this is the essential of the fair play of democracy and is the procedure under which Americans from the beginning of this Country have decided their governmental questions.

Respectfully submitted,

THE COMMISSION TO STUDY MUNICIPAL CONSOLIDATION IN COUNTIES OF THE SECOND CLASS,

By SAMUEL TAYLOR,
Vice President, Executive Committee.

The SPEAKER. The report will be spread upon the Journal.
